THE SHAM BATTLE

The University Campus Converted Into a

FIELD OF WAR AND THE CANNONS ROARED.

It Was the Big Military Field Day When the Cadets Were Inspected.

Inspection and Sham Battle

It was a lowery day yesterday, and for a while it was a toss up as to whether the University program for a military inspection and a sham battle would not be interfered with in an ending way.

The inspection exercises took place in the forenoon. Col. George H. Burton, Inspector-General, was on the ground and took a good view of the students in their various evolutions, in which were included artillery and signal drill and saber exercise. The Inspector appeared to be pleased with the work of the young men.

Although there were quite a good number of people on the campus during the forenoon, it was largely increased in the afternoon, when the sham battle was announced to take place.

At about 1:45 o'clock the amateur warriors began to come out of their camp, which was in the North Hall, and form into line. At the same time big drops of rain began to come out of the clouds and fall upon the heads of the just and the unjust. The latter by the way were protected somewhat by umbrellas.

The soldiers took all the time the law allowed to get into line for marching, and the visitors began to gather not exactly by the river, but by the north fork of Strawberry Creek, which is called Blackberry. Very soon the black multitude filled the bleaching boards, as the grand stand is called on the days when base ball is being played.

When there was no more seats people piled up the main avenue running East and West, where the elevation enabled them to overlook the grounds where the battle of the day was to take place. Probably no larger attendance was ever on the campus.

Soon the University band appeared on the ground, coming suddenly out of a clump of trees, on the north side of the grounds, and marched to the position assigned for the start. Soon after the six companies that were to do the fighting marched upon the field. The exercises were programed as follows:

Review in honor of Colonel Benton, battalion drill, extended order drill, solution of a problem in minor tactics and company drill.

The clouds had cleared away by 3 o'clock, and the sun shone very pleasantly, displaying, perhaps, to some advantage the many pretty ladies dressed in tints of the latest fashion. The visitors in attendance were females by a pretty large majority.

The lines were established by color standards, and the time arrived for the terrible onslaught. For awhile reminiscences of other days came back to the cadets, but the remembrance quickly faded out as the rattle of the musketry died away.

Colonel Burton reserved his decision which required more time, as other matters appertaining it intervened.

As a wind-up the Juniors concluded the day's exercises burning a cadet in effigy, which was construed that their military work was at an end.

At the last meeting of the new Salvation Army, held in front of the drug store, Charlie Loebs was appointed by Captain Eva to play the big base drum.

The Oakland.

To-night and the balance of the week the bill at the Oakland will be "The Corner Grocery," with Daddy Nolan and his family in their fun making frolics. The play is put on in excellent shape by the Bacon company. Little Mildred, so endeared to the hearts of the little ones of Oakland, in the character of Eva, in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," will, by request, hold a special reception with specialties for her many friends during the Saturday matinee performance of "The Corner Grocery" at the Oakland theater this week.

Berkeley Don't Want To.

The Berkeley High School athletes evidently don't care to enter into a special competition with the O. H. S. boys. The latter sent their Berkeley friends word that they would be willing to meet them, but the Berkeley boys have not accepted the proposition. Although they attributed their defeat at the academic field day to bad luck, they have evidently come to the conclusion that they had better let well enough alone. Shooting Match by Telegraph.

GETS THE TROPHY.

Reliance Gets the Trophy.

Hundreds of local and visiting wheelmen participated last night in the bicycle parade that inaugurated the Fabiola fete festivities in Oakland. The display from all points of view was a decided success. Thousands thronged the streets along the line of march. The twinkling lanterns from scores of whirling wheels made a pretty picture in the darkness of the night. The parade was well managed. Chief Lloyd kept the streets clear of all obstructions, and there was not a break nor a stop on the line from start to finish.

The Fifth Regiment Band headed the procession, and Marshal Al Swain and the Acme wheelmen followed. At the head of the column was a score or more of gayly decorated tandems, while the single wheel riders formed a line for blocks behind. Then the Imperial cyclers of San Francisco, in natty gray suits, and the Alameda Cyclers in blue glided along. The Reliance wheelmen headed by Colonel F. B. Jerome, made the most brilliant showing of the parade.

Jerome's turnout was illuminated by a pagoda-like structure of lanterns and parasols illuminated with striking effect. Cross pieces, decked with flowers, to which dangled many small lanterns, were carried on every reliance wheel. The San Francisco Road Club closed the line.

The parade was reviewed at Twelfth street and Broadway by W. R. Davis, P. E. Bowles and George H. Stratton, the judges. They unanimously awarded to the Reliance Club the trophy for the best appearance in line. This is a piano lamp and an onyx stand. The Acme Club captured the silver water pitcher awarded to the home club having the largest number in line, while the Imperial wheelmen of San Francisco won the onyx clock that was the trophy for the visiting club making the best showing as to numbers.

Al Swain, W. R. Griffith and George F. Neece, who formed the Bicycle Committee, expressed themselves as highly gratified at the brilliant results of the efforts for a successful wheelmen's display.

CRISP NEWS NOTES

From Here, There and Everywhere.

WRITTEN UP IN BRIEF TO BE READ AT A GLANCE

By the Many Readers of Berkeley's Favorite Paper, the Gazette.

After the end of this week all drivers of vehicles in the streets of Berkeley who are unable to show a driver's license will be arrested under the license ordinance providing that drivers shall secure licenses. The ordinance has never been put into practical effect. After its passage a protest of express men and other interested parties was made to the Town Trustees, it being claimed that the law is oppressive, but the protest was shelved.

To be without a watch nowadays is fully as bad as to be without a shirt collar. There is no necessity for it as long as one can get the article at R. A. Curry's jewelry store on Center street, near the High school, at East Berkeley. The sample on exhibition with the rest of our beautiful award is only one of the great variety of pieces of jewelry always on hand. Repairs attended to carefully and promptly.

The Oakland Consolidated Street Railway Company sent a beautifully adorned car over its lines yesterday, and by special arrangement, over other roads to announce the Fabiola Floral fete for May Day. The car carried a brass band of twenty pieces. Open air concerts were given at prominent stopping places. To-day the trips were repeated and all the principal suburban towns were visited.

Members of Lyon Post, Grand Army of the Republic, have decided not to surrender their charter. They held a secret meeting and discussed the action of the Department Encampment in sustaining the suspension of the post. They will participate in the Memorial Day services.

At the semi-centennial celebration of the American occupancy of California to be held at Monterey, in July, next, under the auspices of the Mexican Veteran Association, Miss Alice Stewart, daughter of Colonel Joseph Stewart, U. S. A., of North Berkeley, has been selected to represent Alameda county.

A strawberry social will be given by the ladies of the North Berkeley Congregational Church on Friday evening, May 8th. The last affair of the kind given by the ladies was a great success, and the one of May 8th will probably be equally successful.

The West Berkeley Progressive Club is circulating two petitions for signers. One to bond the town for $100,000 for a public wharf at West Berkeley and for school building purposes, and the other to bond the town to build a $22,500 school building.

Deputy County Treasurer O. Whipple has lost his position. Whipple was a Republican holdover, and Treasurer Sanford has become sufficiently familiar with the duties of his office, he says, to warrant him in dispensing with Whipple, who will be succeeded by a Populist.

Lorin will have a float in the Fabiola fete parade in Oakland on May Day. It will be a 22 foot yacht gayly decorated with flowers, both on the masts and about the hull.

The Lorin Choral Society will give its second concert on Thursday evening, May 17th, the first concert was such a great success that the demand for tickets is large this time.

Charles H. Leech, who has been engaged in mining, for the past eleven months, in Canada, has returned home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Leech, San Pablo avenue. The family expects to remove to St. Helena soon.

It is estimated that $25,000 of taxes are delinquent in Alameda county this year.

The Grand Jury put in time yesterday on the Whidden case.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker is seriously ill at San Francisco. She had to leave a sick room to attend the meeting held at Oakland last Sunday evening. She has a doctor and a trained nurse in attendance. The immediate cause of her sickness is dysentery produced by a low physical state and a change of water.

The pay day of the Homestead Loan Association has been changed from the first Saturday to the first Tuesday of each month.

The King's Daughters, connected with the West Berkeley Church of the Good Shepherd, will give a floral social on tomorrow evening. It will be held at the residence of E. L. Cleaves, corner of San Pablo avenue and Bancroft way.

There has been some hitch about the grading of Cedar street, and the work has not gone along as fast as it will probably in the future. We understand that all matters have been amicably arranged, and this job will be put through immediately.

One of the great surprises of the day is how can Focha and Rogers of 1060 Washington street, Oakland, sell men and boy's clothing at such extremely low prices. People looking for bargains will do well to call and examine their stock. The suit of clothes among the GAZETTE gifts come from their store, where there is a large stock to select from.

Sol Greenhood will open his new bon bon store, on Saturday evening next. Everybody in Berkeley knows where it is, but for the benefit of outsiders we will give the information that it is on the corner of Stanford place and Center street, East Berkeley. The band of the steamer Piedmont will furnish music for the occasion, and the whole world is invited to make an inspection of the magnificently fitted up premises.

GOT THE GO-BY.

Oakland Was Not Visited by the Hotel Men.

Wasn't On the Map.

Mayor Davie received the following dispatch, dated at Salt Lake, from a representative of the Hotel Men's Association, the members of which have been touring the Coast, and were invited to visit Oakland before their departure for the East:

To Hon. J. L. Davie, Mayor of Oakland: Could not reach telegraph office in time to advise you of our departure. The Association regrets not having seen your city, but our program was pre-arranged, and as your city did not have a hotel representative in the Association, your city was inadvertently left from the program, and hence our inability to accept your cordial invitation, for which I am requested to express the sincere thanks of the Association.—W. BAY VIEW BOYS' CLUB

A FINE PROGRAM THAT PLEASED EVERYBODY.

Bay View Boys' Club.

Last evening the Boys' Club of West Berkeley held a social party in their rooms on University avenue near Sixth street. There were about fifty persons present, the majority being of the younger portion of the community.

The evening was spent in listening to the following program, with games and conversation interspersed:

Miss Bernice Kelly commenced the musical part of the program, playing on the piano "The Hungarian Dance," which was loudly applauded. This was followed by the rendering of "Old Black Joe" with banjo accompaniment, by A. W. Stamper of the Berkeley Orchestral Society. It was finely done and very much to the appreciation of the young folks, whose loud calls he could not resist, and he then sang "I is gwine to cross the ribber upon the gospel raft."

Miss Simpson then gave a comic recitation, which was received with so much applause that she gave another. She is a resident of Reno, Nev.

The next number was a piano solo by Master Charles Paine, who is a player of more than ordinary ability, as his execution well showed last evening. He is a rising young player on this instrument, and one of these days Berkeley is likely to be proud of his achievements.

Miss Bradley gave a German dialect recitation which pleased the already delighted audience a little more. At this point light refreshments in the shape of cake and ice cream were served.

Miss Henly then gave a solo in that charming manner to which she is naturally accustomed, and the audience showed its appreciation of it.

Those present did not seem to have heard enough from Miss Simpson, so they prevailed upon her to give another comical recital. It was entitled, "Life in New England," and received the applause it deserved. Miss Bernice Kelly finished the program with a piano solo.

Few people realize how much benefit the young people of West Berkeley derive from these entertainments and how much good is being done by the promoters of this boy's society. It gives the young a place to go where the lessons are good and keeps them from evil associations.

Ernest A. Nordhausen Dead.

Ernest A. Nordhausen, a pioneer merchant of Oakland, died early yesterday morning at his home, 563 Eleventh street, from heart disease. He was forty-four years old, a native of Germany. He leaves a sister, Mrs. C. F. Heeseman, his mother, Mrs. Marie Nordhausen, and a brother, Charles C. Nordhausen, with whom he had been in business for twenty-two years. The funeral will be under the direction of the Masons.

Water for the Summer.

The late downpours of rain, while benefitting the earth and all that grows therein for the time being, has also been sufficient to fill up all the reservoirs built for its reception by the Alameda Water Company, thereby insuring a good supply for this year's consumption.

The upper or northern reservoir of the company, built a few years since, is now a beautiful sheet of water, pure and sparkling as that which was supposed to be in the garden of Eden. And why should it not be. Isn't Berkeley Paradise regained, anyway? Is it not so close to it that you can put your finger on it—on the map?

The Peralta Hook and Ladder Company had a fire drill last night, under the direction of Chief Keen. They tested the new hydrants recently placed in that section of town, and they proved to be very satisfactory.]

San Pablo Items.

The late heavy rains set Wild Cat and San Pablo creeks a booming. Brook trout will have a free swim for a while.

John Bouquet has gone down to Oakland to take in the Fabiola fete. His brothers keep the Galindo hotel of that city.

Our town is not an exception to the other places about us, and was visited by a frost during the fore part of the week. Not much damage was done, however.

The heavy rains caused a land-slide on the Clark ranch, and now the road near Thode's is in a condition that needs clearing away very much in order to make it decently passable.

There has been a postponement of the entertainment which was to have been given in St. Paul's hall on the 25th instant. It is now announced for May 9th at the same place.

At the County Convention of the Christian Endeavor Society held here, the following officers were chosen: Adolph Klese, president; Dr. Camp, vice-president; Mrs. Fred Wolf, treasurer; Henry Wolf, secretary. The delegates were handsomely entertained by Mrs. Dr. Camp, Miss Mabel Johnson, Mrs. H. Wolf and others.

A California Playwriter.

Miss Alice Yates Grant, the San Franciscan, of whom we spoke of recently as one of the growing playwriters of the Pacific Coast, has recently had another of her productions placed upon the stage. It is entitled "The Dummy," and was presented to the public at New York by the Wheatcroft School of Actors. The audience was large and appreciative. Miss Grant is getting up the ladder of fame pretty fast. Merit is helping her climb.

THE CONTEST

Tomorrow Will Decide the Children's Contest.

The Last Day.

Tonight will close the voting for GAZETTE awards. Our readers will probably be somewhat surprised at the results as given today, and it is quite possible that in tomorrow's issue in which will be published the ending, there may be other surprises. As will be seen the young people have worked with a commendable zeal for their favorites. While there may be a disappointment in the outcome to some, we trust that generally there will be a satisfaction to a large majority.

The vote today stands as follows:

POKED TOO MUCH FUN

"The Blue and Gold" Not Received

WELL BY SOME OF THE PROFS AND STUDENTS.

An Attempt to be Made to Confiscate the Balance of the Edition.

Poked too Much Fun.

"Blue and Gold" for 1896-97 was issued yesterday and before the co-operative store was open, the place where the publication was sold, a crowd of students had gathered around the doors, waiting to secure copies. It was not long before the entire number had been sold out, and then those without copies began to make a fuss because there were none on hand. A big box full was shipped over on the noon train and the books were not taken to the co-operative store, but were sold on the campus.

Some of the students and the Faculty have had a great deal of fun poked at them in the publication. Those of the students who were too rigid to stand a joke went before the Faculty with copies of the publications and made complaints. As a result Chief Editor Owen Case and Business Manager Percy O'Donnell were sent for. It is said that the Faculty, who formed the butt of nearly all the ridicule in the book, will make an effort to confiscate the remaining numbers as fast as they come from the press.

Notwithstanding this announcement the students say that copies can be secured and will be sold at Central Park on Saturday next during field-day events.

Lorin.

Lorin's Choral Society which has been organized about two years will have a rehearsal tonight for the coming entertainment. The final rehearsal will be on Monday night and the concert will take place on Thursday evening, May 7th. There will be about 75 voices, besides the soloists all of whom belong to the Lorin Choral Society. A. T. Sutherland, the director says quite a large number of tickets have been sold. This society gives a concert at the end of each term, and the next concert will be at the end of the second term of the club. A concert and dance to which the friends of the members are invited closes the term.

Miss May I. Boper has returned from a visit to to relatives in Yountville.

The Lorin athletic team will have their try-out Saturday afternoon on the University cinder track, in order to select the best men to enter against the Kip Gymnasium club, of San Francisco. The Lorin has challenged the Kip, and the latter has accepted the challenge.

Golden Gate.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the McKinley Republican Club was held last evening in James Page's hall, corner of San Pablo avenue and Folsom street. The first business to come up was the election of permanent officers. H. T. Burns who had been acting as temporary chairman since the organization of the club about two weeks ago, was elected permanent chairman by acclamation. F. H. Pendelton was elected vice-president; Mr. Furman, secretary; James M. Page Treasurer and J. J. Lyons, sergeant-at-arms.

After routine business was through with, matters for the good of the club were discussed. J. H. Rourke was heartily endorsed as delegate to the State Convention, and he was instructed to vote and work for McKinley for President first, last and all the time.

The club adjourned to meet again on May 14th, unless sooner called together by the President.

At the present writing it is a 2 to 1 bet that William McKinley will be the next Republican nominee for President of these United States.

Now that Dr. C. O. Brown has resigned as pastor of the First Congregational church of San Francisco, it will be hard on the newspapers of that burg to fill the papers with news.

Santa Barbara is not to be outdone by San Francisco, and now has its female burglar. She was captured in the act of breaking into a drugstore. She had a male companion who escaped, but after thinking over the matter, gave himself up to the authorities.

The "Straight" (?) Republicans as they style themselves are still whining, and say that they will not be ignored in the convention at Sacramento. Our advice to them is to stay at home, and save railroad and hotel fare. And, besides, Sacramento is not a healthy place for renegades, for the police attend to them.

Louis Sternberg, who was convicted of illegal registration and voting, was taken to Folsom yesterday to serve a three years' sentence. Instead of being given an easy berth through the "influence" of State Senator Mahoney, he was consigned to the rock quarry. Evidently Mahoney's pull was pulled out.

Rev. Charles O. Brown, arriving at the conclusion that discretion is the better part of valor, has tendered his resignation as pastor of the San Francisco church with which he has been connected for some time. His resignation has been accepted, in face of his suspension by the Conference. It does not look well, but it may have been the best way to get out of a nasty mess.

OUR NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

Our great national holiday, the 4th of July, is some distance off, but we think it not too soon for Berkeleyans to commence thinking as to how they will observe it. We notice that in almost all the towns of any size at all it is proposed to have some kind of a jubilee at home. There are many reasons why this custom should prevail everywhere. Among them, perhaps the first, it puts a great deal of money in circulation among ourselves, which would otherwise go to comparative strangers.

There is always more or less danger in traveling on account of the crowded condition of passenger coaches, and the hurry and bustle which occurs on all occasions of this kind. Going away from home, with the idea of having a good time always carries with it the expenditure of money, and when it is given to the railways and people doing business in other places, it is taking away just so much from the amount that could be spent in our own town for pleasure and profit.

There is no place that naturally affords more opportunities for people to enjoy themselves than right here in Berkeley.

The hills are full of beautiful places of nature's own build, where picnics could be held for public enjoyment, and at a nominal cost during the day. Platforms could be easily and cheaply erected for those who might wish to enjoy themselves in dancing. Seats could be arranged for others who would prefer to sit down and chat with their neighbors, many of whom they only meet frequently for social conversation. Light repasts would cost but little, as the most of those attending would always take along enough of choice home cooking to feed a multitude.

The suggestions are merely thrown out as a basis for other to work upon. We should be pleased to publish correspondence from our citizens, who could, perhaps, call attention to other ways of making people happy on this always memorable occasion.

For the evening what could be better than illumining our hillsides with some pyrotechnics, which would not only be pleasant for our own sight, but then effulgence would extend for many miles around, and let people know that Berkeley is a live town both day and night.

MUST COMPLY.

Now that strict attention is to be paid in regard to the payment of licenses required by owners of vehicles, it would be in good order to see that every ordinance enacted by the Town Trustees of Berkeley is carried out in the same manner. We have an idea that a little more force might be put forth in making the people live up to the laws already enacted for mutual benefit.

CONSOLATION.

Who does want it? Who does not like it? There is a universal feeling one way on this subject. It was provided for in our original constitution and has never been amended. The thought came to us when we read in our various exchanges from all parts of the State, that the late frosts had destroyed the apricots, cherries, early strawberries, grapes and so forth.

The consolation in regard to this loss is that what few apricots and cherries that may have survived will be of a larger and better quality, that a second crop of strawberries will soon be here and that the first crop is always sour, furthermore that grapes will be worth $25 per ton and it will cost more to buy wine.

Thus matters get equalized and in that we obtain consolation.

IN THE NEXT CENTURY.

The long talked of proposition of having some definite plan for the future in regard to erecting buildings for the use of the University of California, made some visible progress at the last meeting of the Board of Regents. A resolution offered by Regent Reinstein was adopted, authorizing to the primary work to be done for grounds and buildings.

This matter cannot be entered into any too soon, and until the foundation is laid for the superstructure the work will not progress. With the preliminary work in hand there is something with which the future greatness of this great Pacific institution can be builded upon. The passing of this resolution goes to show that new vim has been injected into the regency, an I we trust that this force shall increase as it circulates.

At and Around St. Vitus.

It is a great, and, as they say the New Jamaicans, a long fair are coming back—a fair that is the wind of St. Vitus—one that brings home the Terreneuvas, and all sorts of the fishery October, the Jamaicans are coming home.

west. In many of the villages and St. Malo and thereabouts, who never can see her eyes catch sight of them, there will be those who turn their faces westward today to greet the wind that has filled the evening sails. In many of the cottages the good wife will look to her cider and tell herself that it must be ready against the gars come home. Perhaps the gars is called a boy, as the word signifies; perhaps also he is a gray-haired man, but to the good wife who waits for him at home he is always the gars. And she believes that the gars, grandchild from the ocean, while it has size of mine all the long summer, never sees it by the fire. It is empty still, but she fills it for the present with hope.

Outside the sun shines broadly golden and the trees wave in the wind. One hears the thud of falling apples, and the ground beneath is variously yellow, green or red with them. In the yard there is a second shining heap of grain, and the cider mill is at work. Every where there is the rich, strong smell of apples in the air. It is autumn, and the Terreneuvas are coming home.—Macmillan's Magazine.

True Western Hospitality.

People in the eastern cities know nothing of the meaning of the word, hospitality, as it is given in the dictionary of the western ranchman.

"Why," said Senator Warren of Wyoming, discussing some of the characteristics of western people with a representative of the Washington Post the other day, "I would regard it as a personal insult if I went to a house on any ranch and found the door locked. The first impulse of the average western man on such an occasion would be to break the door down."

"But how about locking up when the inmates go away?"

Senator Warren laughed. "It would make no difference at all," he said. "We all go on the general supposition that a man traveling through the country is hungry. If he has any food in his haversack and finds nobody at home, he goes in the house, takes possession of the kitchen and cooks his meal. If he has nothing he helps himself to what he can find. He does it as a matter of course, and the family would feel that he was worse than a dude if he declined to share with them even the smallest bit of food that they happened to have in store."—Chicago Tribune.

Some Canadian Indians.

Some of these Canadian Indians are not only civilized, but they are rapidly reaching the point where the line dividing them from other citizens becomes indistinct and gradually vanishes. The outward and visible signs of his are minor and emphatic. They live in comfortable houses with flower gardens and gravelled walks. They have adopted the clothing, the dietary and many of the customs of the whites. They make for themselves roads, and they have built jails. They have their agricultural societies, with their annual shows. They trade with acumen equal to any of their neighbors, and whenever they affect the occupations of the pale-face they prove themselves equal, while losing none of their skill at the vocations peculiarly their own. They are thus expert as lumbermen, sawyers and carpenters, fruitpickers, guides, pilots, flax pickers, compass basket makers, teamsters, meat vending, blacksmiths, miners, lime burners, etc. They have even entered the learned professions.—National Review.

All In the Teaching.

Uncle Steve Melton is famous in Jacksonville for his liberal dispensation of charity and cuss words. He does not use cuss words in a profane way, but simply as a matter of economics. He finds in his fishhouse that he can get more work out of his colored assistants when he uses a forcible expletive.

Some months ago a friend came to him and said: "A friend of mine, a very wealthy Cuban gentleman, is coming to this country to start a large cigar factory. He does not speak a word of English, and his desire is to rent a room in some family where English alone is spoke in in order that he may master the language."

"Let him come up to my house," said Uncle Steve bluffly, and so the arrangement was made.

After having been there about a month the foreign gentleman was introduced to a lady. He bowed low, with his hat in hand over his heart, and said:

"Ah, senora, I'm d——d if I ain't glad to meet you!"—Florida Times-Union.

The Writ Was Served.

An impecunious gamekeeper, to avoid being harassed by his impatient creditor, gave instructions to his wife to deny him to all such unwelcome visitors.

A process server, however, who had made several unsuccessful attempts to effect personal service of a writ, became at last suspicious.

Arming himself with a loaded gun, he took up a position near a wood contiguous to the keeper's house and discharged the weapon in the air.

Bang went the gun, and the insulted keeper, rushing out, exclaimed: "Who's firing shots on my property?"

"I am," was the reply, "and I've served the writ."—London Answers.

Long Drawn Out.

Private John Allen of Mississippi was standing near the corner of Delaware avenue and First street, when a man who had his hand on his stomach came up and said:

"Beg pardon, but you have the look of a physician—an eminent physician."

"Oh, I'm no doctor!" modestly replied the Tupelo statesman.

"Sorry for that, but perhaps you can give me some information. What are the symptoms of poisoning?"

"Have you been poisoned?" exclaimed Allen, thoroughly alarmed.

"Well, I have queer feelings in my stomach," the man remarked.

"No."

"Do you have spasmodic pains?"

"Not yet."

"Feel shivery, with a great thirst and heat?"

"No, nothing like that. I feel a complete goneness for about a foot up and down here, and every time I think of ham and eggs my mouth waters."

"Why, it may be hunger," suggested the private would unceremoniously.

"I should think a bit wonder if it was, being I haven't eaten anything for 36 hours."

"Humph!" muttered John Allen, as he surveyed the man three or four times and then handed him 25 cents, saying:

Alive Four Months In a Grave.

Hari Das, the great Hindu fakir, who lived in the first half of the century, is the only wonder worker of modern times who has ever allowed himself to be buried in the ground for months. In the year 1840 Hari had persuaded Ranjura that for a certain fee he would allow a committee to test the claims which he made of being able to die and remain dead for months and then come to life again. When all was arranged Hari hypnotized himself to such a degree that his circulation was wholly stopped. When he was pronounced dead to all intents and purposes, he was buried in a garden and a high wall built around the grave. Guards were stationed on the wall so that interference or deception would be impossible. Four months later Hari was exhumed according to agreement, and after a few minutes of vigorous rubbing of his body by friends he opened his eyes and an hour later he was well and able to walk. The fakir was also shaved and then buried, and is said to have come out of the grave in the same shape, a fact which is cited to prove that vitality must have been completely suspended.—St. Louis Republic.

Opinions of Great Generals on War.

Arbitration between nations signifies the same thing as that espoused by the ordinary judicial courts. It means the substitution of reason for force as a means of decision. That its possibilities are great has already been demonstrated. That they will grow with the development of a disposition to peace is unquestionable. An indication of this tendency may be found in the abhorrence of war by great commanders. The sentiment of Wellington, "Nothing except a battle lost can be half so melancholy as a battle won," was echoed more bluntly by General Sherman: "Do you know what war is? War is hell!" General Grant, speaking with direct pertinence to the subject of arbitration, said: "Though I have been trained as a soldier, and have participated in many battles, there never was a time when, in my opinion, some way could not have been found of preventing the drawing of the sword. I look forward to an epoch when a court resembling the present Supreme Court of the United States will settle international differences instead of keeping large standing armies, as they do in Europe."

The Games of the Stadium.

The games of the stadium were, of course, open to all, from the wearer of the purple cloak to him of the sheepskin jacket, and in many instances the free born peasant wrested the coveted prize from his rich rival. In the horse racing, however, the wealthy alone were represented, though they did not always drive their own chariots or ride their own horses. Through all part of the Greek speaking world, when the Olympic festival reached its full splendor, princes, nobles and rich citizens sent teams of untold value to compete. Even women, who were not permitted to be present in person, were often represented by race horses, which were sometimes the first to reach the goal pillars.—"The Olympian Games," by G. T. Ferris, in St. Nicholas.

The Fiddler Crab In Winter Quarters.

In winter, when the surface of the ground in which it is accustomed to burrow may become frozen or covered with ice, the fiddler crab bores deep into the mud or sand and stays until spring. The black or mud fiddler fairly riddles the meadow banks along the salt creeks. It bores in usually horizontally, and it may be as far as six or eight feet from the face of the bank, and then down into the mud at various angles until it gets below the level of the tide, which is reached and falls through the loose mud, in the fiddler crab's burrow. There are myriads of the black fiddlers, and they so honeycomb the bank that sometimes under the added weight of ice gathered upon the top of it the bank breaks down.—New York Sun.

Women as Musicians.

There has been no woman in music to compare with George Eliot in literature or Rosa Bonheur or even Angelica Kauffman in art. The reason is probably that woman, feeling more intensely than man, exhausts the feeling more readily, while man, being ever rational and deliberate, can express feeling better without experiencing it so keenly.—St. Louis Mirror.

Lord Leighton a Painter of the Beautiful.

It may perhaps be stated as the distinction of Lord Frederick Leighton among his peers that he has worshiped beauty, and especially the beauty of form, more exclusively than they. There is little or nothing of the mystic to create beautiful images. Often beauty is their sole motive. Sometimes they clothe a beautiful idea, sometimes they present a fine dramatic scene, but in all cases the treatment is mainly as that of a beautiful thing. Whether the subject be "Perseus Wrestling With Death" or "Rizpah Defending the Dead Bodies of Her Children," Neo-Hellenism is sufficient to make his draperies fall in true graceful folds. No passion will disturb his features to disfigurement. With the pathos of deformity his art has no concern, and it has little toleration even for strength without refinement.—Cosmo Monkhouse in Scribner's.

The Attraction.

"Who is that little man talking to all those people crowding about him? He's been attracting no end of attention tonight."

"Why, haven't you heard of Jinkins, the great explorer, just returned from his expedition into the very heart of Bangobo, where he had the most thrilling experiences?"

"Certainly. And you don't tell me that's Jinkins?"

"Oh, no! Jinkins isn't here. That's Firkins, who el— he used to go to the same school with Jinkins."—London Tit-Bits.

Hard Lines.

Husband—Here they have brought me an account for a ball costume. How is that?

Wife—Oh! Don't you remember? It is for the green dress I wore last year at the ball where we first met.

Husband—S-o-o-o? And now I am expected to pay for the net with which I was caught.—L'Ammunziatore.

It Couldn't Be.

Willie—I don't believe it is wicked to chew tobacco.

Nellie—Why, Willie!

Willie—Well, it can't. I tried it and it made me sick. Wicked things is all good!—Cincinnati Enquirer.
